The Homeless Jesus Statue

in front of St. Patrick Church in Hamilton saved pedestrians from being hit by a run-a-way dump truck. The truck's brakes had failed. The statue was hit hard by the truck and broke into several pieces. Parishioners carefully gathered the pieces. The statue was repaired later in the week and placed back on the corner of King Street East and Victoria Avenue – all costs assumed by the trucking company. The story was covered by local media and on social media.
